

I do not believe cross-ownership of newspapers and television stations should be allowed because it limits the people in the area to the point of view of just one person (or group of people). This has historically been dangerous, and I would personally call it un-American. There is also reason to be concerned that the quality of print journalism will fall in these areas, as these conglomerates try to save money by relying too much on their TV reporters' work, further limiting what the ordinary citizen gets. We will lose the more in-depth, informative reporting that we need now, more than ever. Please, do not change the rules that are in place, they were put there for a good reason. They are there to protect the citizens of this country and to ensure we get information from many sources, so we can be informed and make informed decisions. In a free society, that is the most important thing of all. Thank you for your time.
